

Forum: Free Express i¼`è†ªç”±â^—è»Ši¼%oo

Topic: President Barack Obama's inaugural address

Subject: Re: President Barack Obama's inaugural address

Posted by: cloud1232

Posted on: 2009/2/23 21:49:19

hi futari

how have you been ?

Iâ€™m not personally interested in politics but itâ€™s a part of life, I know and accept that.

I like Obamaâ€™s character. I have been watching his biography, political career and his lectures. It touches my heart every time I hear about him.

As the first Africa American President itâ€™s a good opportunity to dismiss racial polarization in The United States.

He is quoted as saying, â€œwe cannot help but believe that the old hatreds shall someday pass; that the lines of tribe shall soon dissolve; that as the world grows smaller, our common humanity shall reveal itself; and that America must play its role in ushering in a new era of peace.â€•

There are many people of different nations in the U.S. I believe that a better relationship between both black and white comes from good communication. It could also be used as a model to help all racial bias in the world.

Obama has many good characteristics. He is smart, intelligent, wise, brave, confident, humble, generous, kind and honest.

Of all his characteristics I especially appreciate his honesty and confidence. In his lecture, â€• A more perfect union Philadelphiaâ€• he expressed the reality about his background. I also feel that he was honest about his relationship with Reverend Wright. The man has helped and guided Obama to know God.

Now itâ€™s very difficult to face the many crises and challenges, however, he is full of confidence and brave enough to tell all of the Americans this.

â€œFor as much as government can do and must do, it is ultimately the faith and determination of the American people upon which this nation reliesâ€•

â€œThis is the price and the promise of citizenship.â€•

He has one very famous remark, â€œYes we canâ€•.

He has never promised that he will overcome the many challenges that exist but he will try and do him best. He is an honest and powerful politician.

He is very clear on where he stands and has told the Americans that he will guide them to a good future.

My American friend told me that Obama is too young to have a political career, for the reason that itâ€™s too difficult to solve the many crises. I feel that this is the truth, but it could be the opposite and be an advantage for him. He will help to create a new culture and a new role in American history.

i try to express my opinion hope you can understand.

good for you everyday