It is hard to choose, but I think.. if the old friend who once saved my life,he should be a kind person and he might hope to let the old lady take my car. As to the perfect partner I have been dreaming about might be a nice and kind person,and he might hope to let the old lady take my car,too. But for the other, I had to say sorry to them because it is a stormy night and they need to wait for the bus to come.So How about lending my car to the one who has saved my life and ask him or her to take the old lady home and I wait for the bus to come with the one I have been dreaming about?This is so calledæ,£é'£è!çœŸæf.... hehe
