You made me feel like start planting one myself after visiting your site.

if you like to plant one,
send me your address,
i will mail some branches to you.

That's very kind of you, Modo. But since I'm residing outside Taiwan, we do have very strict rules on incoming plants, even a bouquet of orchids that my friend sent me while leaving Singapore, I had to dump it in the trash can before boarding the plane. Anyway, thanks for your offering, and, last but not least, may I take that as a rain check which I might redeem some day when conditions changed?

sure, we got some days rain,
for sure you can get rain check.

today got two more blossom, but wet by rain.
