

Forum: Free Express i¼`è†aç”±â`—è»Ši¼%oo

Topic: æ`â€‘çš,,â³¶æ€Žéº¼äº†

Subject: Re: æ`â€‘çš,,â³¶æ€Žéº¼äº†

Posted by: SoutheLily

Posted on: 2011/5/23 10:53:58

It is a very frustrating job as a teacher in Taiwan today. When parents telling you that their kids are taking nothing but loving words and pampers, what's there for a teacher to motivate young generation to study hard? I can never accept that their idea of taking 'bribing' as an encpuragement. "â¼ä,â-, è•â½•ç,º"??????? I cannot say that all kids' problem are from their parents but I insist that the parents attitude is decisive.

Myself never got punnished all the time when I was in school, but my brother is a total different story.

When the so called experts telling school and techers how to tech but intentionally ignoring the reality that not all kids are willing to study and human nature existing the negativities, I dont see any hopes there for the copmpetition ability of this new generation who are replacing us and taking our country very soon, only few tens of years,

So, I only pray to the Lord, dont let me live too long and have to suffer the consequences from all these stupid policies by our suthority today.