

Forum: Free Express i¼`è±ç"±â—è»Ši¼%o

Topic: dream interpretation

Subject: Re: dream interpretation

Posted by: montanius

Posted on: 2013/10/12 2:36:29

Well, there are different theories on dreams. Interestingly there are no real attempts to collect data to verify or deny them. Maybe it is too personal, maybe it is too costly.

I myself believe dreams are a part of our personality. A counterpart or a mirror or whatever - it is still to solve. But you may be right too, maybe it is just chemistry or an empty play of electrons in the brain. I hope it is not so, in this case love can be described by scientific formulas too...

Actually I also lose my dreams if I don't write them down right after waking up. Even if I do so I simply don't remember everything in them.

Quote:

SouthLily wrote:

I think dreams are just dreams.

I am thinking about those stories about dreams, regardless it's about a butterfly or anything else, once awoken, nothing left, perhaps still some emotions remain, regardless good dreams or bad dream.

Life, so similar to a dream!!!!