Yes, Dagege,

Now I can see that you are indeed a very practical man, but do you need to bring back the whole shop?? :.)

Yea, it would be awesome to have them for my sandwich :)

Hmm, ... my house is too small.

So I decided to bring first back ... some ham.

I am a practical man ~~~

Yes Dagege.. haaaaaaa... Happy New Year to you too. I guess you must be intrigued by Dashushu' greatest story of all the year 2013, he had pulled his muscles?? maybe?? and end up wearing slightly chubby women's(suggested by yours truly) Corset , guess he looks cute too.

Now, what happened to you,Dagege, I thought you have eaten enough ham when you were in Barcelona (jealous! jealous!) and instead of bringing back spanish girlfriends...ssss... you brought back "Ham" hm...tell us more please~~~~

Hahaha, ... very interesting discussions you have here, while I am away ...

A corset for Dashushu ... and Pontius to guest by Joseph.

So, ... a Happy New Year 2014 to you all.

May it bring some fun, success, health ... and some lovely things like Dashushu's corset ...

(Hope, your back is already better now Ference!!! ... my backpack today was so heavy, that I nearly cannot move anymore ... just back from Barcelona with lots of Spanish ham in my luggage ... feel my back like Pontius ...
or did I mix here something up? ...

wowee... that is a very dangerous pull you had on that day... Yes, you definitely need a Corset to hold in your core.. so start making friends slightly plump ladies, am sure they have a few in their home

Just let them know that you need to be slim like them too..

Pontius Pilate.???. when did he come in to Joseph Pilates class ???

Ha-ha, it's a horror story, Song...

Four days ago accomplishing my daily pensum (in running) I got back and I wanted to change my shoes; I put my left (or right, hard to reconstruct after such a long time) leg on the second step, leant over it and tried to untie the shoelace - which was not asey at all as I had my beautiful white running gloves on, so it took a time to complete, and then, huhh, I realized I had a pain in my back, in the spine, right over my perfectly shaped butts: I hardly could move for a day... - On the 3rd I'll try to run again...

Corset is a great idea, but any time I borrow ladies' clothes I am thrown strange glances.

I only knew Pontius Pilate washed his hands, personal hygiene is very important.
