I elaborated all the details... We get to the place apart; you stay with your company, I'd wear an Obi van Kenobi-like cloak, and I only take it off when I stand in front of the audience, huhh... After the performance the police would take me away, you can stay. Perfect plan, huhh!!!

(I found the karaoke version of the song, I already started practicing...)

xie xie, xie xie, for being so considerate and being such an outgoing character, but I would rather you give it a miss... I think I do not want to faint in front of all those people... it will be more embarrassing than the performer. The show belongs to you, so all eyes should be on you and you alone...P :P
