

Forum: Common English Questions

Topic:

Subject: Re:

Posted by: glotynn

Posted on: 2006/7/18 10:34:27

to look elsewhere and talk of other things; to elude a question by talking off the point.

When someone is asked a particular question that he/she does not feel like to answer, he/she may look elsewhere and talk of other things, trying to divert the asker from that topic.

I don't know if there is a relative idiom in English.