Many people might find themselves at a loss trying to view all the new posts since their last visit. That means if a post is not shown in the Newest Posts block on the homepage, they would have no idea where to look for them.

The answer is quite simple. Just click Post on the lower right side of the Newest Posts block and then you can see all the posts from newest to oldest 10 posts a time. You should be able to see Post right beside Forum.

This part has been added to Smart FAQs as well.
