

Forum: Chinese Things English Way i'¼ ä_-åœ'å¿fi'¼œè(±æ-†æf...i'¼‰

Topic: Neo--Calligraphy,

Subject: Re: Neo--Calligraphy,

Posted by: openH2O

Posted on: 2006/8/21 9:32:49

to eastcoast, glad that u like it. as long as u know how to draw then there is little problem on how to depict these figures. cause i drew them out one by one too, not that i am a good artist.

.

see below for the past 3 of 4 and the rest of the translation.

" Things do change, only our feelings linger. What we used to be fond of will become the past instantaneously. We can't help but to cheer ourselves by recollection. Life, long or short, always come to an end. An old saying has it that : 'Life and death are the ultimate things.' What a pain! Every time I read about the writings of people from the past, I always sense their feeling reflects my own. I can only lament but not know how to verbalize. Life and death may be merely an illusion. Yet it is ridiculous to equalize longevity with short-lived. The future generations will look upon us just like we do our past. So, I document the lives of the contemporaries and their works. Time has changed, yet the desire to express the feeling is the same. Those in the future shall get what I mean when they read this article. "

Attach file:

montage30.jpg (94.13 KB)

