A Friend

A Net Friend

A Friend is someone that can help you turn your world around

Just being there for you

They can share everything with you

Keep you company when you are lonely

They can make you happy when you are sad

A friend can inspire you when you are in need

A friend cares about how you feel

Maybe they are near or far far away

But still they are there for you

Maybe they are busy but still they will be there

There for their friend Night of Day

A friend should never be taken for granted

Respect them and hold them close to your heart

A friend is someone that you should love and respect

For what you each can do for each other in times of need

You may have many friends

Like the waves in the sea

But there will be always be one true friend

You can always count on

Whom you can truly depend

I hope that I

You

Everyone

Can someday be friends
