I need your comment!

I am , grew in a family with four members. My father had been served as a commissioned officer in military troops for ten years and now he is a music teacher in a junior high school. My mother is a housewife. I still have an younger brother, who is an engineer in the LCD manufacture. My family education is very severely, which especially is emphasized on ethics, morals and responsibility. Therefore, I have individual characters of independence and always keep a positive and initiative manner toward life since childhood.

I had studied in High School of National Normal University, which provide a free environment for studying, and discovered my interests in life science, so I choose to study in a department related to life science in the university. I graduated from the department of agriculture chemistry in National Taiwan University, which provided a good training in chemistry and many practices in the experiments, so I have a strong background in chemistry, which help me to study life science in the molecular way. I had been a graduate student in the institute of microbiology and biochemistry in National Taiwan University, the topic of my master thesis is "The production of insulin-like growth factor fodder yeast," therefore, I am familiar with techniques about microorganism incubation, animal cell culture, DNA engineering and protein purification.

Besides the academic courses, I have also joined a student club of society service in the university and held many winter/summer camps in some elementary schools in remote districts. I have been the club leader responsible for the arrangement and organization of the club activities, which provide a chance for me to contact people with different backgrounds. Except for sincere concern, it's required comprehensive communication skill to make peers to work together, which makes me grow very much.

I yearn for science research, because I could put the knowledge into practice and contribute to my country. Formerly laboratory experiences impressed me very much and told me that research does not only depend on enthusiasm, but also clear thought; not only repeated demonstration, but also the resolution. Therefore, I want to join a team devoted to research. In addition to exploring a topic of research with my laboratory experiences, I hope to obtain new stimulations and significant growth.

An important individual character of mine is that I always carry out my own responsibilities and the obligations of my own work to the best of my abilities. I'm very earnest in my job and request myself strictly. I obtained some awards in my student life, such as the Mayor Awards in the senior high school days and the Complete Attendance Award in the high school days. I am also the recipient of the Student Service Education Award in National Taiwan University in 1998 and 2001. I have been a soldier in the obligatory service for 15 months and volunteer to join the airborne forces in my military life. I completed not only the airborne training camp, but also a mountain march approximately 240 miles, which show my endurance and enthusiasm to achieve my goals. I devote myself to anything I want to achieve and hold on straight to the end.
