I agree with Apex.

Anyone can tell me which country is not trying hard to get their own nuclear bomb?

I also pray for love and peace in this world, but I don't think I will see it this life.

The issue is not the nuclear bomb. It is the human mind. Nuclear bomb is scary but there are many other ways to kill and harm people. How many people can a car kill when it is driven by a wrong person?

One interesting observation, obviously, those accuse others the hardest are turning out should be closely questioned the most.

These internet stories, well, only good replacements of the TV news in my mind.

Mind to share your opinions about TV news programs?
