Those who wish to add a comment to any blog post should be aware that your comment will not appear immediately. Every comment has to be approved by me first before they can appear. The reason behind this is to avoid misuse by spammers.

The following is the note from that section.

Please note: Comment moderation is currently enabled so there may be a delay between when you post your comment and when it shows up. Patience is a virtue; thereâ€™s no need to resubmit your comment.
