It's a little bit confusing for me ...

Where I could find his statue? When I look at the photos of your link - ... the location seems to change from time to time ...

If it is by the Danube now, then it should be in front of the parliament building ... That's why I didn't see it ... construction work is on there ...

That's great, Dagege! So you were not tricked by "luring girls" in the 5th district (the innermost part of Pest) - newspapers are full of these cases nowadays.

When I was at the army (as it was an obligation) I learnt most of his greatest poems by heart standing guard.

You picked the right site, there you can find all of his poems.

One of my personal favourites is "A DunÃjnÃl". The second verse (numbered as '2') is quite mystical... --- I don't know if you've seen his statue - it is made for this poem:

Maybe I am wrong... Not easy to translate poems, I guess. I simply don't feel in the English version what I see in the original...

Interesting, for a long-long time I have not read his poems... All of a sudden it touched me...

ESZMÁLET (1934)

Vasárnap lakom. Erre sok
vonat jár-megy és el-előzem,
hogy' szólnak fűnyes ablakok
a lengedező szűsz-szűtőben.
Igy iramlanak árnyak ájben
kivilágított nappalok
s ön álllok minden félke-fűnyben,
ön kényelők és hallgatók.
