It's not the moment I envy you, I in general do so...

Ok, the trees got redish and all those autumn colours here too, that is really nice. But I spend most of my time in front of this ... computer...

I write standing.

No, years ago we adopted here a small black dog, she was treated terribly, so she is not "new"...

Right before the collapse of socialism here, in 1989 I moved to Sweden. That time we called it here "disszidálni", a Latin origin word. I spent some weeks in Stockholm, and I had mixed impressions. I admire Scandianvia, but I would not live there...

Anyway - off topic - have you read that the USA started "black listing" high ranked Hungarian officers and businessmen close to the government? At long last a good step!
