

Forum: Common English Questions i'/4 ê \(\pm \alpha - \pm \alpha \), \(\epsi \cdot \alpha \) \(\delta \) \(\delta Topic: 啰引è(±è^až? Subject: Re: 啰引è(±è^až?

Posted by: montanius

Posted on: 2014/11/7 1:36:02

Hm, "Can you speak English?" and "Do you speak English?" do mean the same in the situation when one makes an inquiry if the other speaks English.

So " \ddot{a} ½ æef \ddot{a} ,•æef \dot{e} aa \dot{e} 4e-e1?" can be translated with "can" or with "do" as well.

There are situations when they are not interchangeable.

http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English-VS-Can-you-speak-English http://www.usingenglish.com/forum/threads/125625-Do-you-speak-English http:/

而且, imho, the sun rises in the East, and sets in the West...