I would like to say Happy Chinese New Year to everyone, and to wish all of you a prosperous year. To those that are students I hope that this year brings you the happiness of good scores and grades. To those that are businessmen and women I wish you happiness in your work.

Always remember that a new year brings forth new challenges and solutions for all no matter what they are always face them with strength and you can solve anything.

Oh one more thing remember your family and the love and care you share with them forever during the good times and the bad. They are your strength, your past and your future.
