This is a repost in case you have not read it in Smart FAQs

The chatroom system is called FlashChat from <http://www.tufat.com>. It is based on Macromedia Flash.

On Windows systems, you also need to have ActiveX installed for it to work properly.

It uses MySQL as the underlying Database Management System. This means every message you type is logged by the system. Even private messages are logged.

The system will also filter out some words automatically, so please watch out for words you use in the chatroom.

Newcomers are encouraged to talk to Alice in Newbie's Paradise. Alice is not a real person but a chat robot. She is sometimes very talkative. So try your luck with her first if you like.
