

Forum: Idioms and Proverbs 論壇: 成語和諺語

Topic: A cool customer

Subject: A cool customer

Posted by: Tim Luo

Posted on: 2007/9/23 0:01:30

This is used about someone who is always calm and confident, but is often not very friendly.

He's a cool customer, he behaves like he's being interviewed for a job, not reprimanded for a mistake.

The killer was able to think about wiping off fingerprints; that suggests a cool customer who doesn't often lose control.

Source: Longman Idioms Dictionary